Now in its 9th year, the Pacific Northwest Heart Failure Conference delivers a dynamic and comprehensive exploration of the latest advances in heart failure management. This high-impact program features expert-led didactic sessions, interactive case discussions, and thought-provoking debates—designed to challenge clinical perspectives and inspire innovation in care delivery. With a focus on both evidence-based practice and emerging therapies, the conference attracts a multidisciplinary audience of heart failure specialists, cardiologists, and allied health professionals from across the Pacific Northwest.

PNWHF offers a strategic opportunity to amplify brand visibility, and align with clinical thought leaders in a highly targeted, education-focused setting. Whether you're introducing new therapies or strengthening your presence in the heart failure space, exhibiting at this meeting positions your organization at the forefront of meaningful clinical conversations.
