JANUARY 28-30, 2027

Miami Marriott Biscayne Bay Hotel

Miami Valves serves as an essential resource for physicians currently using transcatheter therapies to treat valvular and structural heart disease, as well as for those looking to expand into this practice area. In 2026, the Miami Valves conference was pleased to welcome over 400 participants representing more than 100 academic institutions, 25 states and 10 countries.

Miami Valves 2027 will once again deliver a premier educational experience, combining high-impact scientific programming with a dynamic exhibit hall highlighting the latest innovations in interventional cardiovascular care. The conference brings together a highly targeted audience of invasive and interventional cardiologists, vascular surgeons, interventional radiologists, and other influential clinical decision-makers, providing industry partners with direct access to the physicians and thought leaders shaping clinical practice and advancing patient care.

Exhibiting at Miami Valves represents a strategic investment with meaningful potential for return. Beyond traditional brand exposure, the meeting offers a valuable platform to engage qualified prospects, strengthen relationships with existing customers, showcase innovative technologies, and cultivate new business opportunities. Through direct, face-to-face engagement with a concentrated audience of clinical leaders and purchasing influencers, participating companies can maximize the impact of their marketing investment, accelerate commercial opportunities, and reinforce their competitive positioning within the interventional cardiovascular marketplace.
